You've spent a lifetime building and preserving your estate. Unfortunately, the eventual beneficiaries may not be your loved ones, but rather, the government, attorneys who handle your probate estate, your children's creditors, or their divorcing spouses. Taxes, probate, frivolous spending, lawsuits, etc. can eat away most, or even all of what you've worked so hard for.

You will learn the following:

- How to avoid the high costs and delays of probate
- How to avoid losing control of your assets, even in disability
- When, why, and how to use trusts, and the benefits that they provide to families
- Why Beneficiary Deeds and Payable on Death Accounts may not meet your needs or carry out your wishes
- How to Protect your children from losing their inheritance
- Why relying on a Will may be a huge mistake
- Why your Durable Power of Attorney may not work
- The truth about the Estate Tax
- and much, much more
